

do the ROCK WALK

ABOVE TREELINE, please:

- Stay on trails or bare rock.
- Do not walk or sit on vegetation.
- Camp only in designated sites.
- Leash your pet.

The plants in the Alpine Zone are remnants of the last ice age. Only 85 acres of them exist in New York State.

Alpine plants are rare, fragile, and very much endangered.

Walking or stepping on these plants will kill them. ♪

do the ROCK WALK

ABOVE TREELINE, please:

- Stay on trails or bare rock.
- Do not walk or sit on vegetation.
- Camp only in designated sites.
- Leash your pet.

The plants in the Alpine Zone are remnants of the last ice age. Only 85 acres of them exist in New York State.

Alpine plants are rare, fragile, and very much endangered.

Walking or stepping on these plants will kill them. ∞

do the ROCK WALK

ABOVE TREELINE, please:

- Stay on trails or bare rock.
- Do not walk or sit on vegetation.
- Camp only in designated sites.
- Leash your pet.

The plants in the Alpine Zone are remnants of the last ice age. Only 85 acres of them exist in New York State.

Alpine plants are rare, fragile, and very much endangered.

Walking or stepping on these plants will kill them. ♡

do the ROCK WALK

ABOVE TREELINE, please:

- Stay on trails or bare rock.
- Do not walk or sit on vegetation.
- Camp only in designated sites.
- Leash your pet.

The plants in the Alpine Zone are remnants of the last ice age. Only 85 acres of them exist in New York State.

Alpine plants are rare, fragile, and very much endangered.

Walking or stepping on these plants will kill them. ∞

